

adsorber

Solid material used to capture either a gas or liquid; often activated carbon is employed as the solid because of its high surface area per unit mass.

1990, 62, 2171