

altocumulus cloud (in atmospheric chemistry)

A dappled layer of patch or cloud composed of flattened globules that may be arranged in groups, lines or waves collectively known as billows; 2 000–6 000 m; vertical velocities of 0.05–0.1 m s<sup>-1</sup>.

1990, 62, 2180