

altostratus cloud (in atmospheric chemistry)

A grey, uniform, striated or fibrous sheet but without halo phenomena, and through which the sun is seen only as a diffuse, bright patch or not at all; usually at elevations 2 000–6 000 m; vertical velocities of 0.05–0.1 m s⁻¹.

1990, 62, 2180