

antagonist

1. Substance that reverses or reduces the effect induced by an agonist.
2. Substance that attaches to and blocks cell receptors that normally bind naturally occurring substances.

See also agonist.

1993, 65, 2014