

calorimetry

A general term describing any experiment in which heat is measured as some chemical reaction or physical process occurs.

1994, 66, 2488