

data reduction

The process of transforming the initial representation of a spectrometer output into a form which is amenable to interpretation; for example, a bar graph or a table of ion currents.

1991, 63, 1544