

diffuser

A porous plate or tube, commonly made of carborundum, alundum or silica sand, through which air is forced and divided into minute bubbles for diffusion in liquids.

1990, 62, 2184