

electron energy (in mass spectrometry)

The potential difference through which electrons are accelerated before they are used to bring about electron ionization.

1991, 63, 1547