

electron spectroscopy for chemical analysis (ESCA)

Type of spectroscopy involving the measurement of the kinetic energy of electrons emitted by chemical substances usually as a result of excitation by monochromatic X-rays.

1976, 45, 223