

excimer-luminescence (in luminescence quenching)

An effect accompanying concentration quenching in some cases, namely the formation of a new bimolecular species which is capable of emission (excimer- and exciplex-luminescence).

1984, 56, 235