

exoenzymes

Enzymes that cleave monomers (sometimes also di- or oligomers) from one end of a polymer chain.

Exonucleases are able to cleave nucleotides, one by one, from either the 5'- or the 3'- (or both) ends of nucleic acids.

1992, 64, 153