

extract (n.)

The separated phase (often but not necessarily organic) that contains the material extracted from the other phase.

Where appropriate the term 'loaded solvent' may be used, but is not recommended.

1993, 65, 2380; O.B. 91