

hard-segment phase domain

Phase domain of microscopic or smaller size, usually in a block, graft, or segmented copolymer, comprising essentially those segments of the polymer that are rigid and capable of forming strong intermolecular interactions.

Note:

Hard-segment phase domains are typically of 2–15 nm linear size.

2004, 76, 2002