

individual perception threshold (IPT) (in atmospheric chemistry)

A term used in odour testing which signifies the lowest concentration of a particular species at which a subject indicates both an initial positive and repeated response.

1990, 62, 2196