

macroscopic kinetics

A term applied to a kinetic study in which the interest is in the behaviour of bulk systems, e.g. in changes in concentrations of reactants and products.

1996, 68, 172