

micropore volume (in catalysis)

Conventionally measured by the volume of the adsorbed material which completely fills the micropores, expressed in terms of bulk liquid at atmospheric pressure and at the temperature of measurement.

1972, 31, 588; 1976, 46, 76