

sample error (in spectrochemical analysis)

An error which arises when the absorbance of some samples changes with time, e.g. as a result of photochemical reaction, formation of aggregates or adsorption on the cell wall.

1988, 60, 1457