

Schenck sensitization mechanism

The mechanism of chemical transformation of one molecular entity caused by photoexcitation of a sensitizer which undergoes temporary covalent bond formation with the molecular entity.

1996, 68, 2272