

SI

Système International d'Unités, the international system of units established in 1960 and based on seven base units for the quantities: length, time, mass, electric current, thermodynamic temperature, amount of substance and luminous intensity.

G.B. 69; see also 1996, 68, 995