

Stokes type radiation

Fluorescence radiation occurring at wavelengths longer than absorption, i.e. the normal case, is said to be of the Stokes type.

1984, 56, 236