

temperature-programmed chromatography

A procedure in which the temperature of the column is changed systematically during a part or the whole of the separation.

O.B. 92