

time constant (of a detector), τ_c

If the output of a detector changes exponentially with time, the time required for it to change from its initial value by the fraction $[1 - \exp(-t/\tau_c)]$ (for $t = \tau_c$) of the final value, is called the time constant.

1995, 67, 1751