

uphill transport (in membrane processes)

Process in which diffusion of a component occurs from a less concentrated stream to a more concentrated permeable stream.

1996, 68, 1486