

weak collision

A collision between two molecules in which the amount of energy transferred from one to the other is not large compared to $k_{\text{B}}T$ (k_{B} is the Boltzmann constant and T the absolute temperature).

See strong collision.

1996, 68, 191