

19.2 Biological and biochemical applications

The general terms for the analytical measurements are not repeated here, only those terms which are strongly associated with bioanalytical operations. The subsections are: Body fluids, Enzymology and Immunology.